A personal school tour is your best way to see if a school is right for your child.

Here's what to look for on your school tour:

SAFE

- Does the school have a calm atmosphere so your child can focus on learning?
- Is the building clean and well-maintained (a sign that the staff respect the students)
- Are there frequent fights or other disruptions?
- Do the students and family members feel safe and respected?

ENGAGING

- Are the principal and teachers welcoming?
- Do students go on frequent field trips to help learning come alive?
- Do the hallways and classrooms feature positive messages and student projects?
- Does the school focus on developing the character of their students?

STRONG ACADEMICS

- Does the school have a history of strong results?
- Does the school only focus on test prep or do they educate the whole child?
- Is high-quality student work displayed throughout the building?
- Does the school have programs for students who are accelerated or behind?
